Prepare for a simultaneous outbreak.

While the number of new coronavirus cases continues to rise to a high level, the season for seasonal influenza is here. When influenza and new coronavirus infections spread simultaneously and medical facilities are overwhelmed, senior citizens and those at high risk of serious disease will not be able to see a doctor.

Vaccinations

Vaccination is expected to be effective in preventing the onset and serious illness.

In particular, seniors, children, and people with underlying medical conditions who are more likely to become seriously ill should consider vaccination as soon as possible.

The new coronavirus vaccine and influenza vaccine can be vaccinated on the same day.

The latest information on the vaccination is posted on the city's official website.

Prepare in advance for a safe and comfortable recuperation.

As a general rule, those who are infected but asymptomatic or mildly ill will be recuperated at home. If you are infected, you may not be able to go shopping for food and daily use items or cook.

It is important to be prepared in advance for sudden recuperation at home.
