Life with Dogs

How to live with dogs

When you own a dog,

- ☒ Register your dog and attach the dog identification tag to his/her collar etc.
- ☒ Every year, give your dog a vaccine against rabies and attach the vaccination certificate to his/her collar etc.
- ☒ Give your dog basic training.
 - Let him/her defecate in a designated area.
 - Get him/her used to staying in a cage.
 - Train him/her to "wait," "sit," and "down".
 - Do not let him/her bark unnecessarily.

First, register your dog.

When you own a dog, you are obligated to register it and put the dog identification tag (plate) on the dog's collar.

Registration is once in a lifetime, and the dog identification tag will be issued at the time of registration.

Fee 3,000 yen (for registration)

Application Animal hospitals in the city or at the Environmental Planning Division Counter (4th floor of City Hall)

Others Putting the identification tag on your dog is useful when your dog gets lost.

When registration information changes, notification is required.

If your dog dies...

If the owner's name or address changes...

If you purchase or receive a microchipped dog

You are required to complete procedures at the designated registration agency of the government.

There is no need to wear a dog identification tag or to complete procedures at the city hall or animal hospital.

Every year, get a vaccination against rabies.

If bitten or scratched by a dog infected with rabies, the virus can enter the body through the wound and cause death.

It is a scary disease that kills almost 100% of those who develop it.

It occurs in almost all areas of the world and kills about 56,000 people each year. Although there is currently no outbreak in Japan, the threat of rabies is always around us due to the flow of people and products from overseas.

Outbreaks of rabies can be prevented by having dogs vaccinated against rabies.

Owners are obligated to vaccinate their registered dogs every year, and put the vaccination certificate (plate), which is issued after vaccination, on the dog's collar.

Place Animal hospitals

Eligibility Dogs over 91 days old

What to bring
